DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

In view of the Appeal Brief filed on April 27, 2009, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new grounds of rejection is set forth below. To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) initiate a new appeal by filing a notice of appeal under 37 CFR 41.31 followed by an appeal brief under 37 CFR 41.37. The previously paid notice of appeal fee and appeal brief fee can be applied to the new appeal. If, however, the appeal fees set forth in 37 CFR 41.20 have been increased since they were previously paid, then appellant must pay the difference between the increased fees and the amount previously paid.

A Supervisory Patent Examiner (SPE) has approved of reopening prosecution by signing below.

Double Patenting

Claims 1-32 of this application conflict with claims 1-78 of Application No. 10/749,614. 37 CFR 1.78(b) provides that when two or more applications filed by the same applicant contain conflicting claims, elimination of such claims from all but one application may be required in the absence of good and sufficient reason for their retention during pendency in more than one application. Applicant is required to either cancel the conflicting claims from all but one application or maintain a clear line of demarcation between the applications. See MPEP § 822.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-32 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-78 of copending Application No. 10/749,614. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because similar recitations such as a reserve price of a proxy bid price being disseminated after a high proxy bid is identified.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 17-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Referring to claims 17-24. Claims to computer-related inventions that are clearly nonstatutory fall into the same general categories as nonstatutory claims in other arts, namely natural phenomena such as magnetism, and abstract ideas or laws of nature which constitute "descriptive material." Abstract ideas, Warmerdam, 33 F.3d at 1360, 31 USPQ2d at 1759, or the mere manipulation of abstract ideas, Schrader, 22 F.3d at 292-93, 30 USPQ2d at 1457-58, are not patentable. When functional descriptive material is recorded on some computer-readable medium it becomes structurally and functionally interrelated to the medium and will be statutory in most cases since use of technology permits the function of the descriptive material to be realized. Claims 17-24 fail to recite a computer program that is embodied on a statutory computer-readable medium. Applicant's specification paragraph 131 discloses computer readable mediums as non-statutory carrier waves.

Referring to claims 25-32. Based on Supreme Court precedent and recent Federal Circuit decisions, the Office's guidance to examiners is that a § 101 process must (1) be tied to a machine or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or materials) to a different state or thing. In re Bilski et al, 88 USPQ 2d 1385 CAFC (2008); Diamond v. Diehr, 450 U.S. 175, 184 (1981); Parker v. Flook, 437 U.S.

584, 588 n.9 (1978); Gottschalk v. Benson, 409 U.S. 63, 70 (1972); Cochrane v. Deener, 94 U.S. 780,787-88 (1876).

An example of a method claim that would not qualify as a statutory process would be a claim that recited purely mental steps. Thus, to qualify as a § 101 statutory process, the claim should positively recite the other statutory class (the thing or product) to which it is tied, for example by identifying the apparatus that accomplishes the method steps, or positively recite the subject matter that is being transformed, for example by identifying the material that is being changed to a different state.

Here, applicant's method steps fail the first prong of the new Federal Circuit decision since they are not tied to a machine and can be performed without the use of a particular machine. Thus, claims 25-32 are non-statutory since they may be performed within the human mind.

The mere recitation of the machine in the preamble with an absence of a machine in the body of the claim fails to make the claim statutory under 35 USC 101. Note the Board of Patent Appeals Informative Opinion Ex parte Langemyeret al-

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Churchill (US 7,461,022).

Referring to claim 1. Churchill discloses a network based commerce system, said network commerce system comprising:

a processor coupled to a memory through a bus (figure 2); and a fixed price setting process executed from the memory by the processor to:
determine that a high proxy bid is less than a reserve price, wherein the high proxy bid is the highest current proxy bid and the reserve price is the minimum price at which a seller is willing to sell an item, and in response to the determining, cause the processor to automatically publish at least one of a proxy bid information set by a proxy bidder and the reserve price, wherein the proxy bid information includes the highest price that the proxy bidder is willing to pay for the item (figures 9-10 disclosing a bid or buy auction and automated bidder/high proxy bid).

Referring to claim 2. Churchill further discloses a system wherein the fixed price process further causes the processor to automatically unpublish the proxy bid information upon the high proxy bid exceeding the reserve price (figures 9-10 disclosing high proxy bids and regular bids that did not originally surpass reserve price are published and reevaluated for receiving a sold indication when the reserve price is lowered. Publication is not made of any of the bids that exceeded the current or past published reserve price, therefore proxy bids that exceed the reserve are not published since only those bids that did not exceed the posted reserve price are reconsidered for the reduced reserve price).

Referring to claim 3. Churchill further discloses a system wherein the fixed price process further causes the processor to facilitate a request for an adjustment of a fixed price offer associated with the listing for the item, the request to be sent to the seller (figure 9 disclosing auctions with adjustments for sell off prices).

Referring to claims 4-5. Churchill further discloses a system wherein the publication is performed during or after the auction price setting process (figure 10 disclosing continual looping of the auction with different published bids by an automated (proxy) bidder).

Referring to claim 6. Churchill further discloses a system comprising automatically notifying the bidder when the reserve price is published (figure 10 disclosing indication of a reserve price has been met for the bidder).

Referring to claim 7. Churchill further discloses a system causing the processor to publish the at least one of a proxy bid information and the reserve price for view by a specific buyer only (figure 10 disclosing indication of a reserve price has been met for the winner).

Referring to claim 8. Churchill further discloses a system causing the processor, when publishing to display the maximum amount a buyer is willing to bid to purchase an item on the listing (figure 9 disclosing a bidder's max bid).

Referring to claims 9-32. System, medium, and method claims 9-32 contain similar limitations to those in rejected system claims 1-8 above and are rejected under the same rationale.
